The supreme court upheld the Eaton primary law which will regulate the primary elections in Kentucky on the first Saturday in August.

Ensign William Billingslea of Mississippi was killed and Lieut. John Towers of Georgia was hurt when a biplane in which they were maneuvering fell into Chesapeake bay.

Harry Sommers, of the Elizabethtown News, is making his "Editorial Comment" column better and better but his mind is evidently running toward the ladies. Nine out of 24 squibs in his last issue were about women and their clothes.

"A Big Story."

Gorgory T. Humes, a reporter for the New York World, who died in a railroad wreck, displayed that rare presence of mind, loyalty and devotion that marks the true newspaper man when he said to those who were carrying him, "Call up my paper right away and tell them there is a wreck here—a big story. Tell them I am sorry I won't be able to work because I am smashed up."

Although terribly crushed and dying Humes retained above all else his sense of news. Unmindful of the outcome of his own injuries Humes desired above all else that his paper be apprised of a fearful railroad wreck which caused the death of six persons and the injury of twenty more. The fact that his own name was soon to swell the list of fatalities was of no concern to Humes. And having done his duty he was ready for whatever fate decreed should be his. He died in the active service of his paper.—Evansville Courier.

SHE GOT HER MONEY'S WORTH

How Farmer's Wife Rigged Up Telephone in Kitchen and Listened to Gossip.

"Persons who would normally think it a disgrace to eavesdrop or spy on their neighbors seem utterly without conscience when the telephone is in question and will go to the instrument every time the bells ring whether it is for their call or not. As an evidence of the extreme to which it can be carried I well remember a case where for some unknown reason the bells beyond one of the stations seemed in constant trouble. One time they would operate perfectly; five minutes later they would ring so faintly that it was hard to distinguish the call. The manager was on the verge of prostration, as he had gone over the line a dozen times, trimmed every tree that could possibly have been in the way, adjusted bells—in fact, done everything he could think of.

"In despair he came to me and told me his troubles. I suggested that we drive out to the last 'good' station and, to his surprise, asked him if he dared walk in without rapping. He said he could, and the two of us entered very unexpectedly, the telephone being in the kitchen at the back of the house. The picture we found was, to say the least, amusing. The good housewife, in her craze not to miss anything, had actually rigged up a clamp to hold the receiver on the back of a rocking chair, and spent her leisure time in comfortably listening to every word that went over the line.

She had even gone so far as to devise a method of opening the primary circuit on her own instrument so that the batteries would not run down. This is an extreme case, but shows how far some folks can go.—Farm and Fireside.

FINALLY MADE IT PERFECT

Blacksmith, Sure He Had Right Idea, Kept at Work Until It Brought Him Fortune.

A story is told of a determined Canadian blacksmith who won success by persistent and intelligent effort. "I am a blacksmith from Canada," he said. "I hammered this out on the anvil. It is going to be used instead of ordinary leather collars." It weighed 40 pounds.

"How is a horse to carry this load around his neck and draw a heavy load as well?" he was asked.

"This is a little heavier than it need be," he explained. "It will be all right."

An effort was made to dissuade him from wasting money on a horse collar that weighed 40 pounds, but he was sure of his ground. Six months later the Canadian returned with another collar, an improvement on the original, weighing but 15 pounds. Three times the man came back. Each time he brought with him a new metal collar, lighter and better than its predecessor.

Now about every fire engine horse and omnibus horse in England and in Europe wears what is known as the stamped-up metal collar. From 40 pounds the Canadian had reduced its weight to almost as many ounces. He has given up blacksmithing and lives in luxury in London.

EXPENSIVE.

Redd—Have you seen that Fuss-an-feather girl?

Greene—Oh, yes.

"She's a bird."

"Keep away from her."

"Why so?"

"Why, I read only yesterday in the paper that birds eat two and one-half times their own weight every day."

GREAT RELIEF.

"Anything new in the spring hats for women?"

"Yes; a hat doesn't have to be absolutely hideous to be fashionable."

TWO PRESENT.

"I had lobster last night and I dreamed of a lobster all night."

"The one you ate or the one that paid the check?"

ULTIMATE DETERMINATION.

"Money won't do everything."

"What now, for instance?"

"It won't keep a cook who has made up her mind to quit."

Knocking On Friedmann.

Berlin, June 20.—The last meeting of the Berlin Medical Society showed that the drift of opinion of Berlin physicians was strongly against Dr. Friedrich Friedmann, the Berlin physician, who claims he has discovered a cure for tuberculosis. Prof. Max Westenhoefer, of the University of Berlin, reported that a post-mortem examination of one of Dr. Friedmann's patients, who had been young and strong, showed a marked acceleration of the tubercular process after the treatment. Although Dr. Friedmann had assured a cure, tuberculosis showed plainly at the point of injection.

Prof. Westenhoefer censured Dr. Friedmann for failing to give scientific data and for going abroad to exploit his remedy.

TO BE SERVED TOGETHER

Accompaniments of Solid Dishes That Add to Their Flavor and Also Digestibility.

Boiled rice, new potatoes, peas or asparagus and mint sauce go well with spring lamb. Boiled lamb or mutton is improved by the addition of caper sauce, and should be accompanied by boiled rice and stewed turnip. Baked leg of mutton is served with brown gravy, rice croquettes and stewed turnips or Brussels sprouts.

Irish stew is best eaten with dumplings and boiled onions. Roast of beef can be accompanied by browned potatoes, string or butter beans, or asparagus. Broiled beefsteak can be accompanied by mashed or scalloped potatoes, cauliflower or asparagus. French fried potatoes are also a proper accompaniment of broiled beefsteak. Boiled tongue is served with tomato sauce and spinach.

Creamed potatoes and peas are served with broiled chops; breaded chops are served with tomato sauce and potatoes au gratin.

Cold meats, like hot meats, have their proper accompaniments. Sliced tomatoes with French dressing should be served with cold mutton. With cold lamb lettuce and chopped mint with French dressing are suitable. Mayonnaise of celery can be served with veal or cold chicken. Combined with tomato aspic it can be served with cold turkey. Cabbage salad with French dressing goes with cold ham, and apple sauce and cold slaw are delicious with cold pork.

Baked Ham.

Cover your ham with cold water and simmer gently just long enough to loosen the skin so that it can be pulled off. This will probably be from two to three hours. When skinned, put in a dripping pan in the oven, pour over a teaspoon of vinegar and one of hot water, in which dissolve a teaspoon of mustard. Bake slowly, basting with the liquid, for two hours. Then cover the ham all over to the depth of one inch with coarse brown sugar, press it down firmly, and do not baste again until the sugar has formed a thick crust, which it will soon do in a slow oven. Let it remain a full hour in the oven after covering with the sugar, until it becomes a rich golden brown. When done, drain from the liquor in the pan and put on dish to cool. When cool, not cold, press by turning another flat dish on top with a weight over it. It is fine and slices nicely because of the pressing.

Griddle Cakes.

Into a coffee cup of sour milk put half a teaspoon of soda and stir till it foams. Beat an egg, add to milk, with little salt, and tablespoon of sugar. Use either bread or pastry flour, to make stiff enough to spread, a very little, when dropped on griddle, in tablespoons. Add half as much cream of tartar, as soda, to flour. Have griddle hot and well greased and you will find the fritters light and delicious. Adding cream of tartar was told to me years ago and find they are not only much lighter, but finely flavored, with no suspicion of sour milk about them.

Shad Roe a la Newburg.

Carefully place shad roe in a pan containing enough boiling water to cover it, add the juice of one-half lemon or two teaspoons vinegar; let the roe simmer in the water for 20 minutes; drain and keep hot; serve with the following sauce:

Heat one-half cup cream mixed with one-half cup milk, one teaspoon salt, one-quarter teaspoon cayenne pepper, and one-half teaspoon nutmeg in a double boiler for 10 minutes. Add the well-beaten yolks of two eggs to this and stir constantly until thick, (about three minutes); lastly add two table spoons Madeira wine.

Paragon Crumb Pie.

Blend together three cupfuls of flour, one cupful of sugar, one-quarter teaspoonful of salt, one-half cupful of butter, and set aside three-quarters of a cupful of these crumbs. Mix together one cupful of molasses and one cupful of hot water in which one teaspoonful of soda has been dissolved, and into this mixture stir the crumbs. Line two large pie pans with good pie crust and pour in the batter. Sprinkle the top thickly with the reserve crumbs and bake twenty minutes in a moderate oven.

Swedish Stew.

Swedish stew will make a savory change in meat dishes. Put into an earthen dish two and a half pounds stew beef cut into small slices, a large carrot sliced, three cloves, three round-topped tablespoons pearl tapioca, one heaping tablespoon bread crumbs, one tablespoon vinegar, one-eighth of a grated nutmeg, salt and pepper. Add a little water, cover tightly and bake in a moderate oven five hours.

Transparent Pie.

Three eggs, one and one-half cups light brown sugar, piece of butter size of walnut and a grating of nutmeg. Beat the eggs very light; add sugar and beat until smooth. Then add the melted butter and nutmeg. When baking watch very closely till custard is set and do not allow to become hard. Remove from fire as soon as set. If desired a meringue or whip cream can be put on top.

Steamed Apples With Oatmeal.

Carefully pare and core three tender apples, place each in a buttered cup, fill centers with grated maple sugar and steam until quite tender. Place in hot dish with freshly-cooked oatmeal, placing a spoonful in each cavity. Serve with cream.
